

27th international art contest A Place in green

*Mix blue and yellow and you get green.
Color the house, the roof and the tree, all green.
Now paint the road, the grass, the traffic lights, also green.
Whatever you grasp, it must be at least a bit green.
And so, you paint green pictures, print green leaves, cut out green grasses, among which bare green feet drift – I wonder whose they are, so very green?
If you forget someone, they quickly turn green with envy and dare not walk shoeless on the green carpet, instead waiting for the green wave of green lights to let everyone go on their way.
But you make your own way, your own rules, and walk through the forest green with your green thoughts, searching for that green branch ... from which to admire the green river in the distance.*

*In the sunbathed afternoon you stop and breathe in the green warmth in colorful harmonies.
You must gather the green power before winter – to dream in green colors.*

This year, dedicate your art to all that bears within itself green thoughts, green colors, green music, green life.

We invite you to express your thoughts and ideas through art.
